SHINE YOUR quirky LIGHT

How much more inspiring would your event be if your attendees could experience business advice leading to more joy, delight, and freedom...

... the kind that lets them shut the laptop at 2pm on Friday and *play all weekend?

Kate doesn't just entertain. She will inspire your audience to make real, lasting changes in their lives and businesses. A healer of the 'shoulds and oughts' complex, she is a guide to full, wild, joyful self-expression in Life and Business, helping her clients to make more money by having more fun.

She speaks to those who are ready to start listening, deeply, to their own inner wisdom and build their business their way. People are often surprised to learn that the more they do things 'just because they want to', the more their business will thrive.

Kate believes that as more and more people start taking full responsibility for the creation of their own lives, and start daring to listen to the whispers of their soul, the world will change for the better. She combines her 'anything is possible' outlook on life with the groundedness to turn it into a beautiful reality

"Kate is a striking public speaker. When she took the Inspire'd stage she cultivated deep respect and attention from the room before leaving her wisdom in everyone's heart. She is both relatable and inspiring."

~ Aymaan Najafi, Inspire'd Co-host

Kate Wolf is a catalyst for creative self-expression and Businesses that beam with personality.

She works exclusively with change-makers, healers, seers, pioneers, sensitive and creative souls – people who are here to make a difference. She does this privately and in workshops and retreats, as well as in her lovingly created Beacons Sisterhood, where bright lights gather to make sure they burn bright – not out. She brings years of experience as an intuitive energy healer, reiki master, yoga and meditation teacher and creativity expert to clear blocks to healthy self-expression and support clients to speak their truth. With a vast understanding of effective communication from work in the theatre and Creative Education – directing, writing, performing and teaching – Kate transforms bland messaging into stories that connect – from both the page and the stage. Kate has spoken and inspired on stages in the US and the UK, including Inspire'd London, the UK's leading platform for inspirational and transformational talks, and Connect in New Orleans, where the world's best transformational leaders gather.
