

Kate Wolf

Trust Your Magic

"Kate will not only engage your audience, but she will make sure they walk away having integrated something new that they can use for months and years to come... all with a delightful air of fun and play. I felt completely comfortable turning my audience over to her lead."

- Darla LeDoux, Aligned Entrepreneurs

Kate doesn't just entertain. She will inspire your audience to make real, lasting changes in their lives and businesses. A healer of the 'shoulds and oughts' complex, she is a guide to full, wild, joyful self-expression in Life and Business, helping her clients to make more money by having more fun.

She speaks to those who are ready to start listening, deeply, to their own inner wisdom and build their business their way. People are often surprised to learn that the more they do things 'just because they want to', the more their business will thrive.

Kate believes that as more and more people start taking full responsibility for the creation of their own lives, and start daring to listen to the whispers of their soul, the world will change for the better. She combines her 'anything is possible' outlook on life with the groundedness to turn it into a beautiful reality

Kate speaks on...

- How to stop caring about What Other People Think so you can build the business your Soul wants
- How to build a business as a Highly Sensitive Person - that supports instead of overwhelms you
- How to share your story to attract your Soul Clients and grow your business

"Kate is a striking public speaker. When she took the Inspire'd stage she cultivated deep respect and attention from the room before leaving her wisdom in everyone's heart. She is both relatable and inspiring."

Aymaan Najafi, Inspire'd Co-host

Speaker Bio

Kate Wolf is the founder of Wild Voices™ and creator of the Beacons Sisterhood. A trusted spiritual teacher, she lovingly guides sensitive women to stop bowing at the altar of What Other People Think and connect to their real dreams, so they can follow their inner GPS to wild success. A leading voice in the movement to grow a Purpose-Full Business that is sustainable for our health and our planet, Kate transforms bland messaging into brands that beam with personality, helping you find the story that will turn you into a beacon for Clients who are a joy to work with, so your work both fills your bank account and leaves you feeling truly fulfilled.

“Kate brilliantly shared the magic of story-telling by telling a fascinating, honest and heart-felt story of personal challenge, insight and change. This was then followed up by a very generous helping of useful and practical tips. I looked at our business delegates who were busy taking notes as Kate shared her gems and knew I had absolutely picked the right person. She gave a lot of value and people were still talking about it days later on social media.”

Mel Larsen - Dream Project Coach/founder, FutureSeed
